

METHOD FOR FORMING DIFFERENT LIQUID CRYSTAL TWIST ANGLE

Abstract of the Disclosure

5

Different liquid crystal twist angles realize different luminescence efficiencies for reflection and transmission regions, respectively. Therefore, the difference of liquid crystal twist is used in reflection and transmission region, 10 respectively, of a liquid crystal display to maximize their luminescence efficiency so that the total luminescence may reach the optimum state.